This Privacy Policy (the "Policy") is intended to describe the manner in which the "D-DONE AI" website (the "Website") operates.

Your privacy, as a visitor to the Website (the "you"), is important to us. We are committed to safeguarding your rights under applicable law and to full transparency regarding the manner in which information is processed. If you do not agree to the terms of this Policy, we ask that you refrain from using the Website. You may discontinue use of the Website at any time, subject to the provisions of this Policy.

You are not required to provide us with the personal information described in this Policy. However, refraining from providing personal information may limit, or prevent, our ability to provide you with the services offered on the Website.

Without derogating from the foregoing, where you provide personal information relating to third parties, you represent and warrant that you have obtained all consents and authorizations required from such third parties for providing their details and personal information about them to us, to our representatives, to our business partners, or to other relevant third parties (as applicable). It is clarified that sole responsibility in this regard shall apply to you.

10. The Information We Collect About You

Depending on the manner in which you use the Website and the ways in which you communicate with it, we may process two types of information about you:

Personal Information: Any data relating to an identified person or a person who can be identified, by reasonable effort, directly or indirectly, through an identifier such as a name, email address, online identifier (such as an IP address, etc.).

Non-Identifying Information: Information collected as part of your use of the Website that does not enable your identification directly. We are not aware of the identity of the user from whom such information was collected. This type may include aggregated usage data (Aggregated Data) as well as technical information transmitted from your device such as operating system type, device settings, screen resolution, browser type, keyboard language, and the like.

2. How We Use Information (Purposes of Processing)

We may process the following types of personal information:

Contact Details: When you contact us (for example, by sending an email to the address displayed on the Website, completing "Contact Us" forms through it, and/or registering on the Website), you will be asked to provide certain identifying details such as first and last name, email address, mobile phone number, etc. Personal information may also be collected as part of your interaction with our communications, such as responding to an email sent by us.

Information Collected Through Cookies: We may use cookies, pixels, or similar software tools (the "Cookies"), including third-party cookies, in accordance with and subject to the terms of use and privacy policies of such third parties.

We process the above personal information for the following purposes:

- Providing the services and operating the Website;
- Providing support and troubleshooting in connection with the Website and the services offered therein;
- Communicating with and updating you regarding the Website and the services offered therein;
- Marketing and advertising communications, including personalized advertising, subject to applicable law;
- Conducting research and analyses (analytics) in order to improve and tailor the Website and the services offered therein;
- Investigating and resolving disputes in connection with your use of the Website and our services offered therein;
- Detecting fraudulent actions, unlawful activity, or any other activity that may adversely affect the Website and the services offered therein;
- Addressing violations, enforcing our policies, and complying with applicable laws, regulations, orders, or any other requirement of a competent authority, including responding to legal proceedings.

3. Sharing Personal Information with Third Parties

We work with third parties that assist us in operating the Website and providing the services offered. These service providers assist us with data storage, customer support services, monitoring and analyzing the performance of the Website and the services offered, communicating with and managing existing and new customers, providing marketing support, and generally operating and improving the Website and the services offered.

These service providers may process personal information solely in accordance with applicable law and subject to this Policy, and subject to applicable confidentiality and security measures and relevant legal requirements.

In addition to providing personal information to service providers as described above, we may also provide your personal information in the following circumstances:

- For operating our websites, contacting you, offering our services and providing the service in practice, and the like;

- To marketers and other partners that assist us in distributing the services to users;
- In the event of a merger, sale, change of control, or reorganization of all or part of our business;
- Where we are required to provide personal information in response to subpoenas, court orders, or other legal proceedings, or in order to exercise or defend our legal rights against legal claims;
- Where we believe that sharing the information is necessary to investigate, prevent, or take action regarding unlawful activities, suspected fraud, breaches of our terms of service, or any other situation required in order to comply with our legal obligations;
- For any other purpose for which, where required under applicable law, your consent will be obtained.

4. Your Rights

Pursuant to the Protection of Privacy Law, 5741-1981, and subject to the limitations set forth in applicable law, you may have the following rights regarding your personal information held in databases:

Right to Access Personal Information: You are entitled to review personal information by way of a written request, or through an authorized representative or guardian.

Right to Rectification: If, upon reviewing your personal information, you find that it is incorrect, outdated, incomplete, or not relevant, you may contact us with a request to correct or delete the personal information.

Please note that some of these rights apply only in certain circumstances, and all rights may be limited by law. For example, where fulfilling your access request may infringe existing confidentiality or privilege rights.

5. Third-Party Websites and Services

The Website may include links to third-party websites or services that are not subject to this Policy. We do not bear responsibility for the manner in which such websites or services process personal information. This Policy applies solely to our Website. You are advised to read their privacy policies.

6. Updates and Changes to the Privacy Policy

We reserve the right to amend this Policy at any time, and therefore it is recommended to review this page from time to time. Any change to this Policy shall take effect as of the "Last Updated" date stated above, and your continued use of the Website after the "Last Updated" date shall constitute your consent to such changes and your undertaking to act in accordance with them.

7. Language of the Policy

This Policy was drafted in Hebrew, which is the original and controlling version of this Policy. Any translation of this Policy into other languages is provided for convenience only and shall not affect the meaning of the Policy. In the event of any discrepancy between the meaning of translated versions and the Hebrew version, the Hebrew version shall prevail.

For the avoidance of doubt, this Policy is drafted in the masculine form, but is intended to apply to all genders.

8. Additional Information

If you are a person whose personal information was transferred to us from the European Economic Area and you wish to receive further details regarding the processing activities we carry out in relation to such information, including pursuant to the Privacy Protection Regulations (Provisions Regarding Information Transferred to Israel from the European Economic Area), 5783-2023, please see our European privacy policy, which is available here:
